1321(2)

Sept. 8, 1999

To the CUSTODIANS OF THE FUTURE,

Civilizations rise and fall on water problems. We cannot continue environmental destructions like SF Bay and food sources like Salmon.

No - dams, reservoirs, and canals.

I listened to all the heads of water districts begging - more water. SHORT SIGHTED.

Too late to do sprawl into river and farm. We must regulate conservation. Out of ballance users get an economic advantage that perpetuates over-use in the capitalistic system.

Examples: 1) Cotton takes too much water. Grow it where there is water. Too late to grow it in California and maintain living land.

2) Urban sprawl like

We can't take farms and natural rivers.

3) Lawns.

David E. Troy

C-113862

C-113862