Attn: Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt

Agribusiness in San Joaquin Co has concerns about the Cal-Fed Bay-Delta proposals. Cal-Fed must be able to assure water needs of farmers, industries, and urban residents. A reliable water source with quality water is the key to the future of the San Joaquin Delta.

Both Southern and Northern Calif. must share the cost and responsibility for ample water. Some agricultural land must be taken out of production for new water storage facilities. But the Delta should not bear the burden for the entire state. Cal-Fed must find an alternative for flooding Delta islands and for the peripheral canal type water system.

Sincerely,
Marsellyn McGlynn
