Comments: It is common knowledge that California is going to grow in population quite a bit in the next few years, I believe that every available acre of agriculture land will have to be put to good use & produce food to feed people, we are fortunate to have good agriculture soil, don't waste it.
Let's build more dams & reservoirs in the hills & mountains to make more lakes which will be good for all man kind,
We need to make better use of storage facilities in areas that aren't ag related such as in the back country as mentioned above.
