Comments:

I believe with the projected population growth expected (next 5 years) for the Bay Area that water usage should be conserved for northern California. Not only is the Bay Area growing but the ~~most~~ northern San Joaquin Valley is predicting strong growth rates too. These two areas need to be served with efficient supplies of water w/o levying any tax increases as a result of reduced supply. Southern California should be influenced by its city govt or county supervisors to conserve or use water efficiently.
