FEBRUARY 14, 1997 MEETING

Enclosed is an agenda for the February 14, 1997 meeting of the Water Quality Technical Group. I hope you can be present for this meeting as we intend to begin linking water quality actions with the ecosystem, system reliability, and water supply components. To help us focus on the task, we have invited managers of the other program components to present a summary of their activities, and to join us in break-out sessions.

Also, we will be forming a Parameter Assessment Team that will be charged with helping us to determine how best to apply numerical evaluation methods in our impact assessments. This team will be comprised of Water Quality Technical Group participants with appropriate expertise, and will be expected to work closely with CALFED staff as advisors on appropriate analytical methodology.

June 3 *

Note: At the Water Quality Workshop on February 4, 1997, I erroneously gave this date as June 4, 1997. Please excuse the error.
