

Marv King BIO

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Marv King served as a Surface Warfare officer on ships assigned on both coasts including an overseas assignment in the Philippines. He has traveled extensively and currently serves in the Naval Reserves.

Joining Procter & Gamble in 1986 as a production manager at Ivorydale in Cincinnati, he spent 5 years in assignments in the Crisco (Food & Beverage) division before being assigned as Site Integrated Risk/Environmental Manager.

In 1994, he was transferred to Oxnard, Ca as Environmental manager for the Paper Products facility responsible for the all Charmin and Bounty production west of the Rockies. This site serves as the largest P&G manufacturing facility in California. His Environmental certification spans the air, water and waste areas. He is a recognized leader in the P&G Global Environmental Network System.

Marv serves as a member of the California Manufacturer's Association (CMA) Environmental Committee, Chair of the Ventura County Economic Development Association (VCEDA) Environmental (Air) committee and is VP for Business Development for the Greater Oxnard Chamber of Commerce. Currently he is the Energy Business manager and assistant Public Affairs manager at Oxnard.

An avid golfer and tennis player, he, wife, Mary and Daughter Kristy live in Oxnard with their cat, Nittany.